Making Pictures of Fun

Do you like to take fun pictures of your students? When you have kids at camp, you will have plenty of opportunities to take pictures of fun and interesting activities.

When you do, print out your pictures and post them on a bulletin board. Then put some sticky notes nearby for your students to use when writing funny captions to go with each photo.

Students will love both writing their own captions and reading captions that their fellow campers have written. At the end of the camp, compile your photos and captions into a photobook with your favorite desktop publishing program. Then make copies for each camper to take home to remember what a great time they had.
